PATRON'S FIELD AND DUTY.

A Little Sermon on the Duties of Grangers, Their Officers and Intruders—The Lessons of Many Years Should Be Heeded.

(Communications to this column should be addressed to A. T. Lilley, LeRoy, Pa.)

State Lecturer A. M. Cornell will assist in dedicating a grange hall at Lenox Grange, Susquehanna county, on Nov. 11.

Hallowe'en night was well remembered by Columbia Grange. The program was in the hands of a competent committee so "all went well." This grange is now considering the advisability of having a lecture course during the coming winter. Brother and Sister S. C. Moore are to leave soon. Surely they will be much missed by the patrons of this grange.

It is pleasing to learn that past deputy Alvah M. Cornell is enjoying good health in his advanced years. He has always been faithful to the duties assigned him.

The efforts made to destroy the San Jose scale are commendable, but why not make effective the law concerning black knot, pear blight, peach yellows, peach rosette, etc., that are destroying so many fruit trees?

It is now about 32 years since the grange was organized in Bradford county, yet it is still thriving, and much good has been done by it. Yet there is room for much more and we feel sure there will be no disappointment in this line, if care is ever used to keep partisan affairs out of it.

The Patrons Field.

The faithful patron always has a field to labor in, and may always be depended upon to engage in something that is useful and a benefit to himself and neighbors. There is always a place for a worker in or out of the grange; if not assigned to one he will make it and you may see him at work as though by inspiration. Nature is spread out before him wherever he goes and he whatever he does, so he delves into its mysteries with a vigor that his calling only can enlighten from its surroundings.

The parcel post, food stamps and taxation are live questions at the present time and will be discussed wherever a patron meet. Agitation on these subjects will be in order until success is assured. Do not be afraid to let the officials hear from the grange on these subjects, but be careful and not let the grange be led into any snares that will lead to divisions and derangements of grange effort.

Another session of Pomona is near at hand and another season of work of our Order has passed. The harvest has been garnered and we are now at the beginning of the winter season, representing old age. The fruits, meats and grains, the reward for which our past labors, have been placed in storage to provide for the comfort of our families during the winter months. Pomona is ever ready to please the palate and invigorate those who enter her court so it is but fitting that her followers be on the alert and ready to do her bidding. Be ready to recount the labor done and the reward received. Sun up the gains and failures and strike the balance. Then prepare for renewed vigor and more thorough work. Select for your leaders "the tried and the true" and then follow them the varied seasons that are sure to follow. Remember that faithfulness in small things makes up the sum of all that is gained. Let not the listless gaze of the idler be your only effort to advance the interest of the husbandman.

Duties of the Leaders.

The master must guide and direct, while overseer should be awake to aid him in his duties. The chaplain always directs in the paths of peace and the lecturer is the teacher in nature's works as well as in the arts of soil culture. Development should ever be his keynote in grange work, or else the fruitage of his labors will not be apparent. Old laborers may step aside, but their places should be filled by those who have the spirit of the Order at heart and the willingness and readiness to attend to every duty. It is indeed easy to accept position but it is many times harder to attend to the duties. It has been said that the dispenser of food makes the character of men, and we say the lecturer in the grange is in position to develop, educate and invigorate not only the members of his grange, but the whole community about it.

Remember Former Lessons.

As we look to the future of the grange in Pomona district No. 23, it is noted with much interest that there are many strong men and women within the Order who are ever on the alert to aid in building up for the betterment of agricultural interests, but it would not be strange if among the many there should be some who will work from selfish motives only.

therefore it may be the best policy to study with care whatever may be under consideration. Consider, first, and then act so that no reproach be brought upon the Order. A slight mistake may be made to appear of large dimension. Better suffer wrong for a time than to "pull the house down" upon themselves. We, as a grange, cannot afford to make mistakes, but if we do, let us hasten to correct them at once. The lessons of 32 years should not be forgotten.

Talks to Dauphin County Teachers on Vaccination.

Dr. Samuel Dixon, state health commissioner, talked to the Dauphin County Teachers' Institute, in Harrisburg, on the process of making antitoxine and vaccine virus.

There has been much opposition to the recent order that the compulsory vaccination law must be enforced and Commissioner Dixon has begun a campaign of enlightenment against ignorance and prejudice.

In closing his address he said: "People of the present day have absolutely no conception of what the horrors of smallpox were in the centuries just preceding the introduction of vaccination or of the terrible destroyer which would be unchained were vaccination abandoned.

"On the other hand, all are familiar with the ravages of diphtheria at the present time and welcome as a precious boon the gift of science which promises to save so many lives, especially those of precious children.

"Let it be remembered that science has spoken its decisive word in favor of the one as well as of the other of those invaluable agents, and let the word of science be accepted rather than the tradition of an age of superstition or of the misrepresentation of fanaticism and prejudice."

CAPT. BARANTYNE DEAD.

Well Known Soldier Passed Away at Tunkhannock.

Captain Robert Barantyne, a veteran of Company B, One Hundred and Forty-second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, died at his home at Tunkhannock on Wednesday of last week, of brain fever, at the age of 68 years. Deceased had twice served as postmaster of Tunkhannock, and was a leading Republican, having several times held the position of chairman of the county committee.

In private life, he was a modest and unassuming citizen and had the respect and esteem of all who knew him. He is survived by his widow and three grown-up children, namely: Judson, of Allentown; Miss Minnie Barantyne and Miss Sallie Barantyne, of Tunkhannock. The funeral was in charge of Reynolds post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Temple commandery, Knights Templar, and was held at the residence on West Tioga street, Friday afternoon at 2:30.

George L. Baldwin Elected.

George L. Baldwin, Esq., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Baldwin of this place, was Tuesday elected assemblyman in the New York state assembly from the third Syracuse district. Mr. Baldwin had about 2,700 majority and ran away ahead of all expectations. Mr. Baldwin made an excellent impression in his canvass and has every qualification to make an assemblyman who will be heard from at Albany. His many friends here will extend their felicitations.

Found Old Paper.

Clayton Maryott found a rare old paper in the Porter barn on Lombard street which is occupied by Smith Bros. with whom he is employed. The paper is a copy of The Gleaner published at Wilkesbarre and bears the date of Nov. 29, 1816. It is in a fair state of preservation.

BERRY SWEEP STATE.

Defeated Plummer for State
Treasurer by 65,000.

THE BATTLE IN PHILADELPHIA.

City Party Carried Everything Before It and Its Candidates Won by Big Majorities—Some Trouble Occurred at the Polls.

MCCLELLAN IS A WINNER.

Tammany Candidate is Re-Elected to Office of Mayor of Greater New York—Jerome Re-Elected for District Attorney of New York County.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—The indications at 2 o'clock this morning are that Berry, Democratic, has defeated Plummer, Republican, for State treasurer in Philadelphia county by about 25,000 majority. Berry's election is certain.

He comes down to Philadelphia. Allegheny county included, with about 40,000 majority. This will give him a majority in the state of about 65,000. In this city both Berry and Plummer ran behind the candidates on the Citizens ticket for sheriff and coroner.

The Republican machine was badly defeated in this city, the city party candidates sweeping everything before them and won out by about 35,000 majority. The City party candidates won in about two-thirds of the wards, even in such wards as were controlled by such leaders as Senator Penrose, Insurance Commissioner Martin and David Lane. Israel Durham was one of the few Republican organization leaders to carry his own ward.

Riotous Times.

As was expected the elections in Philadelphia resulted in battles between the City party and the regular Republican organization and riots and mixups are reported. Many arrests were made by the police of persons alleged to be making attempts to cast fraudulent votes. The booths in some places were wrecked and the election officers appealed to the courts for protection. As the result of a man's attempting to cast a fraudulent vote at Allegheny a riot took place in front of the Allegheny county jail and during its progress a shot was fired but no one was injured. County Detective Murren, who is alleged to have fired it, was arrested but afterwards released. Murren was leading his prisoner away when an attempt was made to take the voter away from him.

McClellan and Jerome.

New York, Nov. 8.—Returns at midnight indicate the election of McClellan as mayor of New York by a plurality of 30,000 over Hearst. Jerome re-elected district attorney of New York county by 8,000 over Osborne.

Massachusetts's New Governor.

Boston, Nov. 8.—Guild, Republican, is elected governor of Massachusetts.

Democratic in Ohio.

Columbus, Nov. 8.—Pattison, Democrat, is probably elected governor of Ohio.

Maryland Defeated Suffrage.

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The suffrage amendment proposition was defeated.

Chicago Went Republican.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—This city went Republican at yesterday's election by substantial majorities.

NOTES OF THE COURTS.

Two Sent to Huntingdon Reformatory by Judge Fanning.

William Vandemark pleaded guilty in court Monday to burglarizing the home of R. F. Lamberson at Powell and was sentenced to the reformatory at Huntingdon, Harry E. Henson, who was charged with stealing clothes and other articles from the house of G. M. Hoffman at Terrytown, likewise pleaded guilty and was sent to the same institution.

Karl and Frederic Weigel, aged 12 and 12 years respectively, pleaded guilty before Justice Meredith Monday to breaking in the house of Mrs. E. O. Macfarlane and taking a number of coins, a revolver and other articles. Bail was furnished in the sum of $300 each, Guy C. Hollon, the prosecutor becoming surety. The boys admitted shooting out a window glass with a portion of the proceeds buying two flash lanterns at a Towanda store. Judge Fanning will dispose of the case and one of the boys may be sent to a reform school.

A Young Mother.

Martin Fee of Camptown has a Durham Jersey heifer, which, at 10 months of age was served by a Jersey and on Nov. 2, four days before she was 19 months old, she dropped two fine bull calves.

ASHEL BROWN FOUND DEAD IN ROAD BY HIS FATHER.

Death Evidently Caused by Intoxication and Exposure.

The dead body of Ashel Brown was found lying in the road on Rob Wood mountain near Hollon Hill on Friday morning at 9 o'clock by Brown's father. There was no injury discovered and in the opinion of Justice of the Peace George H. Snalley of Monroeton death was due to overindulgence in intoxicants and exposure. It appears that Brown had been in Towanda on Thursday and here purchased a half pint of whiskey and a half pint of alcohol. He started home and about 5 o'clock in the afternoon he was picked up out of the road where he lay asleep under his overturned wagon. His wagon was righted and he was sent on his way.

He stopped about an hour at Abe Johnson's and this was the last seen of him until his lifeless body was found by his father. The horses remained at the spot where the body was found and where Brown had evidently fallen out. The reins were caught and the frozen condition of the ground held them. The dead body was found near the old stone quarry.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Well Attended.

The regular monthly meeting of the Village Improvement society was held at the court house Monday afternoon and was well attended. The treasurer reported that the Business Men's association had appropriated $25 to the society to be paid next May. This is in appreciation of the excellent work that the society has done.

Mrs. Elsie Means, an active member of the society, has been appointed probation officer of the Juvenile court of the county for Towanda. She was recommended by the humane committee of the society. She will attend the founder's day exercises of the House of Refuge at Glen Mills on Saturday when an address will be made by Hon. Julian W. Mack, judge of the juvenile court in Chicago.

The tree committee of the society will put out 20 maples at once. An attempt will be made to have sheds erected in Towanda for farmers' horses and the following committee was appointed to take the matter in hand: Mrs. Charles Tracer, Mrs. D. T. Evans, Mrs. W. W. Rooker, Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. M. J. Long, Mrs. W. J. Bresce, Miss Frances Porter, Mrs. A. M. Baker, Mrs. F. C. Overton, Mrs. N. Sussman, Mrs. L. Marks, Mrs. J. W. Swingle and Mrs. M. E. Rosenfield.

Appraising the Water Works.

The first step has been taken by the village of Waverly towards acquiring the water works plant. Myron H. Tompkins and Randolph Horton of Ithaca, who are attorneys for that city in its proceedings to acquire the water works plant there, have been engaged as counsel for Waverly and C. C. Verneule of New York has been employed as consulting engineer. Thursday these gentlemen in company with Village Attorney F. A. Bell, President Tucker and members of the board of trustees inspected the water works plant, with a view to making an appraisal. After they have come to a conclusion as to its value an effort will be made to make an amicable settlement with the water company. If this fails the matter will then be taken to the courts, and fought out as speedily as possible.

Gas at Wellsburg.

Drilling operations are to be discontinued at the gas well being put in at Wellsburg, the promoters of the company having been assured of success in their venture in the good flow of gas struck in the first three sands. Gas was first struck last week at a depth of 300 feet, but it was thought by the experts that his vein of sand would not give a constant flow, the gas being what is known as surface gas. The drilling was continued and last Saturday night, when at a depth of 620 feet, another vein of gas bearing sand was struck, which, when ignited, burned to a height of about six feet.

Woman Burned in Fire.

Fire destroyed the barn of William B. Dean near Wyalusing Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock. In trying to get some things from the burning structure Mrs. Dean was severely burned about the head. She and her young son were along at the time and the boy saved his mother's life by pulling her from the building, after she became unconscious.

Handsome Masonic Views.

A. M. Baker has displayed in one window of his store a series of 12 handsome photographs taken in Williamsport last May during the 52d annual convocation of the Knights Templar, Northern Commandery of Towanda and the Germania band are shown. The window is handsomely dressed with Knights Templar paraphernalia.

DOWN TOWN BRIDGE.

Committee of Towanda Citizens
at New York City.

WOULD BE EXPENSIVE CHANGE

But Lehigh Valley Officials Express Willingness if Towanda Citizens Will Lend Their Co-operation—The Proposed New Route.

New York, Nov. 6.—A committee of five men from the Towanda Business Men's association consisting of John W. Mix, John C. Ingham, M. M. Spalding, U. M. Fell and E. B. McKee met today with First Vice President Middleton, General Manager M. B. Cutter and Chief Engineer Berg of the Lehigh Valley railroad in this city relative to the location of a new bridge and station of the railroad at Towanda.

The committee was shown blue prints of the two routes, the one approved by the railroad officials calling for a bridge above the present one with a station at the foot of Packer avenue. The other route crosses the Susquehanna river on a curved bridge below the old dam, striking the Towanda side about at the dam. It would cross Bridge street four feet above the present driveway. The station would be where Myer's coal yard now stands.

The travel bridge would be reached by crossing under the tracks at Park street and an easy incline along the river bank to the west end of the bridge would eliminate all grade crossings on both sides of the river. This plan is regarded as very feasible with the exception of the approach to the travel bridge. The Lehigh Valley officials claim that a change from the up town station to a down town station would mean an expenditure of $250,000 more but they express their willingness to bring the station down town if Towanda citizens will co-operate with them in every way.

The committee of the Business Men's association took the matter under consideration and a public meeting will be held at Towanda and it is expected that the drawings of the new route suggested will be on view.

A new time table goes into effect on the Lehigh about Dec. 2 with little prospects for earlier morning train passing Towanda westward.

CLAPP—WARREN.

Pretty Home Wedding Celebrated at Canton.

A very pretty but simple wedding took place in Canton Tuesday of last week in the home of Mrs. Electa McNeet Sweet when her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Sweet Warren, was united in wedlock to Albion Clapp of Boston. The large bay window in the sitting room was banked with laurel and ferns interspersed with bunches of pink roses and carnations and here promptly at 3 o'clock the ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Martin of the Presbyterian church.

The bride was charmingly dressed in her traveling gown of blue broadcloth, with trimmings of real lace and was attended by her two little nieces, dressed in white, and her little nephew, Raymond Sweet, of Williamsport, as ring bearer. Only the immediate family and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Clapp left on the afternoon train for a wedding trip to Portland, Oregon.

Weldy—Vanholt.

Oliver D. Weldy of Highland, and Miss Francis E. Vanholt of Towanda, were united in marriage Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ellis of Wysox. Mrs. Ellis is a sister of the bride. Miss Ina Webster of Towanda, was bridesmaid, and C. L. Secor of Powell, best man. Mr. and Mrs. Weldy will reside at Highland.

The occasion was also the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weldy. They were married on Nov. 7, 1855.

Married in Towanda.

George F. Stone and Miss Grace C. Schwab, both of Detroit, Mich., were married at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church in Towanda Tuesday afternoon by Rev. O. A. Houghton. Mr. and Mrs. Stone are a fine looking couple. They intended to be married at Sayre but finding that they would have to wait for a license decided to come to Towanda and be married. They will live near Philadelphia.

Condition Critical.

Ellis M. Crandall, formerly of Owego, who has been in the vicinity of Towanda, for several months on account of ill health, is reported as being in a critical condition. For several years Mr. Crandall has been obliged to live in high altitudes on account of his lungs. Mrs. Crandall resides at Waverly with her two children, and is at present with her husband.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

All the Members Were Out at the Monthly Session.

All the members of council were present at the monthly session on Monday and the business was transacted with dispatch. The street committee reported much work done on the thoroughfares of the town during the past month. Councilmen Cranks, Burchill and Frost were appointed a committee to investigate claims of damages made by Mrs. Cowan of Orchard street and J. A. Record on Barclay street.

The committee on an all night electric light service reported that the company was not yet ready to submit figures. The water contract was read by Secretary Lane at the request of one of the members. Elisha Rowe was appointed a special officer for the Third street bridge to arrest all those who drove over it faster than a walk. The street committee was instructed to remedy the condition of Second street from College avenue to Franklin street where the water runs in the road and over sidewalks. A crossing at the corner of Fifth and Pine was ordered repaired. Councilman Cranks stated that some of the awnings on Main street were so low that a beagle hound couldn't walk under them without bumping its ears. Chief Miller was ordered to notify storekeepers to raise these low awnings. Bills approved by the finance committee were ordered paid as follows:

Streets	$620.54
Fire	3.00
Police	167.50
Miscellaneous	116.00
Lights	239.40

Mrs. Fox was unable to be at his bedside at the time of death as she was confined to her bed with typhoid fever. Mr. Fox was a well known citizen and prominent man in Cameron, Elk and Clearfield counties and his funeral was largely attended.

Mrs. Fox died on Monday of this week from the ravages of typhoid. Her maiden name was Lodesca VanCise and she was born near Sheshequin, Sept. 2, 1849. She was a fine woman and highly esteemed by everyone. Funeral services were held on Thursday and interment was made at Driftwood. She is survived by seven children, three sons and four daughters.

New York apple men will get about $2 per barrel for their fruit on the trees this year. Last year they were glad to get 60 cents, and much fruit was not picked at all.

Missouri is coming to the front among all the states as the producer of more frogs' legs than any other. It is the first time the croakers of that state have ever had a marketable value.

In New Jersey near the coast it is a common thing for the corn grower to plant a fish in each hill at the time he plants the corn. This may account for the presence of so many suckers in the field when husking time comes.

There was probably never a better matured crop of corn raised all through the corn belt than this year. The crop ripened naturally, exempt from droughts and frosts, and its feeding value will be of the highest order.

Duluth is becoming a most wonderful wheat market and shipping point. The city now has an elevator capacity of 34,000,000 bushels, and 10,000 men are employed to care for the grain which seeks the water route to the east at that place.

The corn crop has so well matured this year without being touched by frost that there should be no trouble at all in securing almost perfect seed. It is not unlikely, however, that being so good more men than usual will depend upon the crib for their seed corn, than which no plan is more sure.

It pays in two ways to kill off the rabbits during the winter and feed them to the huns, for it will save the fruit trees and bring high priced eggs. In an economic way rabbits are a pest to the farmer and fruit grower, and eternal war should be waged on them. Right here is where the folly of shooting all the hawks and owls comes in.

The south is rounding up about 11,000,000 bales of cotton, worth about 11 cents a pound, a happy condition which is in a way equalled by Iowa with 340,000,000 bushels of corn, worth 40 cents a bushel. The south was never so prosperous as today, for northern men and northern money are busy developing its splendid natural resources.

We come across many men who year after year very successfully keep their seed corn through the winter well buried in a bin of dry oats. This method certainly has something to recommend it. It preserves the corn perfectly from the attacks of mice and rats, and should there be a little moisture left in the cobs of the corn when placed in the oats they will draw it all out.

A progressive agriculture is well symbolized by a clean barnyard, a big red cover field and a clean cornfield, with the adjoining highway kept free from weeds. Where this combination exists there is usually a balance to the credit of the owner in the town bank, a lot of good agricultural literature in his home, paint on his house and barn, a piano in his parlor and a good driving team and carriage in his barn.

A very great benefit would be conferred upon all our girls could they be well instructed in the art of preparing and cooking the cheaper cuts of meats, which are equally nutritious and palatable when well cooked and served as the high priced cuts. Too many women can only boil a chicken or fry a sirloin or porterhouse steak, when for the money these will cost twice the amount of good meat can be obtained if the cook only knows how to prepare it. Every girl should be taught the possibilities connected with a fore quarter of beef.

Some men never seem to consider the benefit which would accrue to them by taking the profits of the farm and investing them in the old farm in the shape of needed improvements, better stock and a better home in which to live, but instead take every dollar and put it out at a low rate of interest or, worse yet, invest it in some wildcat land, oil or gold mining scheme, where it becomes a permanent investment in every sense of the word. There is no end of farms which could use the profits for years in the manner indicated and return the owner a higher rate of interest on his money than he could anywhere else obtain.

We are afraid that there is trouble in store for a lot of people who have during the past three years bought and settled on lands in western Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas. For three years past a rainfall which has been far in excess of normal for all the territory east of the one hundredth degree of west longitude has lapped over on to the territory referred to and resulted in a fine growth of all the grasses and the production of very satisfactory crops where the land was under cultivation. This happy condition of things is not normal for that country, and when drier seasons come, as they are sure to, the old story of starvation and abandonment will be again repeated. Unscrupulous land agents have made the most of the favorable conditions of the past three years, and there is sure to be trouble and loss.

FALL FOLIAGE.

Some people have an idea that it is the frost which gives the brilliant coloring to the leaves in the fall of the year. This is a mistake. The color comes as a part of the natural process of ripening of the foliage just as it comes to the ripening fruits. When an early frost comes it hinders rather than promotes the coloring process. While in a way there seem to be some general rules governing the tinting of the foliage, they are still rules which are constantly violated. It may be said that the foliage of certain trees never takes on any bright color—for instance, the bur oak, which merges from the glossy green into a russet brown almost without variation, while the leaves of the jack oak and the red oak will not infrequently give a splendid display of red, maroon and red brown tints. Some hard maples, either because of a family trait or because of some special location, will run wholly to red, while other maples near by will assume entirely a yellow tint. The elms never show any red, but are always yellow. The black cherry will quite often show up both reds and yellows, while the Virginia creeper will give a vivid contrast in red with its neighbor, the partridge berry, in yellow. The sumac and poison ivy do much fall painting, furnishing some of the finest specimens of color to be found, while the yellow of the larch or tamarack, when blended with the dark green of the white pines, quite often gives a very pretty effect. Perhaps the most striking of all this autumnal decoration may be found in some hard maple left in a timber pasture where, exposed to the full rays of the sun, it slowly passes from a deep green to a gorgeous mass of scarlet, a pillar of fire on the rural landscape. In a more modest way a Virginia creeper will sometimes enliven some dead tree, and dying red will give an art picture that one will not soon forget. One is to be pitted who cannot sense all the glory and beauty the October days bring with them.

If new current bushes are wanted next spring now is the time to get the cuttings, which should be of this season's growth, and stick them in a box of moist sand down in the cellar. When spring comes they will be found well calloused and rooted and in just the right shape to set out in the garden.

Little and often should be the rule in the application of oil to machinery and fertilizer to the soil. We have sometimes noted that where twenty-five or thirty loads of manure were spread on an acre of land no better results were obtained than where one-third as much was applied with a manure spreader.

We have two or three inquiries about mushrooms, their culture and where the spawns may be procured. The agricultural department has issued a very excellent bulletin on mushroom culture which may be obtained by writing to the department. The spawns can be procured of almost any up to date seed store.

The men who are making the most money in feeding beef animals are those who know how to take well bred calves and so feed them that at one year old they will sell for $50 or more as baby beef. This type of beef is in much favor and brings the top of the market, and then the gain in flesh made by the young animal is always more cheaply secured than on the matured one.

The magnificent apples—Grimes Golden, Jonathan and Bellflowers—of Colorado and Utah are finding their way to market in large quantities this fall. The bushel box is the package used for them, and for the average family this is a vast improvement over the old barrel. These apples are selling in the central western markets at $2.25 per box, but they are each and all choice selected fruit.

An alfalfa pasture is probably the most sensible and cheapest preventive of hog cholera yet discovered, for it furnishes the pigs just what they need to balance up their rations all through the season. There is nothing better worth while trying than to see if it is not possible to secure a small field of alfalfa on every farm where the raising of hogs is made a business. The importance of this is fast being realized by the farmers of Indiana and Ohio, and when a proper soil is selected and the crop put in as it should be a large measure of success is being met with.

There is always an end to wheat farming. Most new countries take it up for the reason that it is a quick cash crop and easily raised, but they all have to give it up sooner or later. Constant cropping with wheat in a few years removes those elements in the soil which make a good crop possible. The vast wheat growing area of California is now about at the end of its rope. The annual yield has been growing less and less, with a constantly depreciating quality of the wheat raised, until now the millers there are obliged to ship in wheat from Kansas to mix with their own in order to make a merchantable flour.

Crop rotation is a fundamental agricultural necessity. Some men do not seem to understand this fact. It is not at all an uncommon thing to come across men who will actually brag that they have raised certain crops on the same field for ten, fifteen or twenty years, just as though it was something worth bragging about. It is a good rule to follow on all soils and on all farms of putting the land into a different crop each year. The same rule should be observed in the garden, and the different vegetables grown should have new locations each year. There are certain mysterious processes going on in the soil all the time in connection with the manufacture and liberation of plant food which imperatively demand this rotation of crops.

GOOD ROADS.

In a certain western community where the land lies very level, where the soil is a rich gumbo and the highways of the community as bad as roads could possibly be, the people were induced to apply the new method of dragging the roads after every rain. Forty miles of highway were so treated the past summer, with the surprising result that bad roads have been converted into good roads as smooth and hard as an asphalt highway, roads nice enough so that an automobile could safely make any speed of which it was capable, roads so well crowned and smoothed that no rain affects them more than to make the surface a little slippery; no chance for a mudhole to form, no chance for the water to stay on them, and all this good work done at an expense under $3 per mile for the season. Wherever there are bad earth roads, especially in all clay and gumbo sections, this method will certainly revolutionize the condition of the highways. In the community referred to the people are all waked up over the result of their experiment, and it will not be long until all the highways of the county will be placed under this sort of treatment.

FARMING METHODS.

Whenever a man can make a living easily from the land he is very apt to do it in a slovenly and careless manner. The best types of agriculture which we have are quite likely to be associated with an inferior soil and uninviting natural conditions—conditions and soil which compel the best efforts of man to make the farm productive. Where but little effort is required for man to get enough to eat, drink and wear, there he is apt to be found doing just that little and no more, for with the great mass of the people their ambition dies when the common wants of the human are provided for. Thus we find far better methods of farming where the soil has to be nursed and carefully cared for than where it is naturally fertile and productive. The native of the West Indies will lie down to sleep by a banana bush, and when hunger wakes him he will reach up and satisfy his needs with food grown without effort, and then he will turn over and go to sleep again, while the Jap, the Hollander, the farmer in Maine or Michigan, must needs work and work hard along intelligent lines if he is to live at all.

FUTURE PRICES OF LAND.

We are asked what the future price of good farm land is likely to be where it is located in states like Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota and the Dakotas, land which now has a selling value of from $80 to $90 per acre. In one sense land values are governed by the rental value, but not altogether, for there is always the home side of the farm to be taken into consideration—its value as a place to live as well as a place on which to make money. In the best parts of the state of Illinois, where soil conditions are very similar to those of the states named, farms are now changing hands on a basis of from $125 to $150 per acre and justify this valuation, but it should be noted that a very different type of agriculture from the grain raising and grain selling methods of the lands above referred to is pursued. On these high priced farms the cow is the machine which extracts the profits from the soil and justifies the prices obtained. Whenever a more intensive and sensible method of treating the soil on the seventy dollar land is put into operation then such land will command higher prices, but not before.

The farmer is not always the victim of the corporations, for he sometimes gets even with them in good shape. We lately came across two cases which proved that the granger knew how to hold his own with the railroads. One was a case where there was a deep cut on a man's farm, and the ordinary snow fence placed on the line of the right of way was insufficient to prevent the cut from filling up with the snow in winter. For the privilege of erecting another fence temporarily out in the field some distance from the other fence the farmer held the road up for an annual pass for himself. The other was where a planted grove of forest trees adjoined the track, the farmer offering to insure the company against loss or damage by fire started by the locomotives in consideration of a like free transportation, which the road was glad to give. There is no trouble about the farmer being able to hold his own if he has half a chance.

We saw a cornfield in northern Illinois recently in which were feeding a large flock of sheep. The corn was a good crop and stood up well, and it looked to us as though the sheep could not be in any place where they could do more good.

There are some varieties of apples which are rated as of poor quality just because people persist in using them out of season. The Ben Davis and the northwestern Greening are neither of them fit for use until early spring and are little better than green pumpkin when used in the fall.

An Error in English.

Even the greatest authors now and then make a little slip in their English. Thus Sir Walter Scott in his "Legend of Montrose" has this sentence: "But ere Montrose could almost see what happened Allan McAvail had rushed past him." The "almost" should come before "ere" in order to express the author's meaning.—St. Nicholas.

November Magazines

Beside the first chapters of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's new novel, the November Century will have a story by Jack London. "All Gold Canon" will be the title of the tale of a Western miner and his experiences in the canon which he names "All Gold." The Century has arranged to print during the coming year a series of pictures in color, by Howard Chandler Christy, illustrating some interesting phases of the American life.

The November Lippincott's pays respect in large measure to the two supreme subjects of the month: Football and Elections. Ralph Henry Barbour's Harvard-Yale football story is called "The Dub." Through his clear portrayal, the field and score-board appear before the reader as clearly as the printed page. Girls say it is a splendid story; so Barbour scores as well as his college. The best election story of the month is that called "Spatter's Campaign," by Sarah Comstock. Caroline Duer's new novel, "Cinderella of the Garden House," appears complete in Lippincott's Magazine for November.

Miss Helen Nicolay, daughter of J. G. Nicolay, joint author with John Hay of the authorized life of Lincoln, has written a boys' life of Lincoln which is to appear in St. Nicholas during the coming year. It will be fully illustrated and one of the leading features of St. Nicholas during the coming year.

Johnston—Struble.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Struble at Vawter, Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, the event being the marriage of their only daughter, Alta R., to Elmer A. Johnston, of the same place. Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn wedding march, which was played by Mrs. Arthur Bower of Towner. The parlor was very beautifully decorated with evergreen and yellow chrysanthemums and in one corner an arch of evergreen had been arranged, and it was under this that the ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Johnston of Candor, N. Y., grandfather of the groom, in the presence of about 50 relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly attired in blue silk and carried a bouquet of pansies and geraniums.

After congratulations a wedding supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home in Sayre, where Mr. Johnston now has a position. Among those present from out of the place were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Kershner of Owego, Rev. DEATH ROLL OF A WEEK

Robert M. Kirwan.

Robert M. Kirwan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirwan, died at the home of his parents on Plank Road street at 4 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness of 18 months with consumption. Mr. Kirwan was 23 years of age. Up to two months ago he lived at Clarksburg, W. Va., but his health became so poor there that it was decided best for him to come here. Rob Kirwan was a highly popular young man with many traits of character that won him warm friends wherever he went. His death will be deeply mourned. He was a member of the Eagles at Clarksburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery are well advanced in years and suffered considerably from the rough handling of the desperadoes.

Lucas Paints

It doesn't pay a painter to mix his own paint. Lucas Paints are mixed more evenly and thoroughly by improved modern machinery. They save his time and are better after they are mixed. They spread so easily and cover so thoroughly that he can finish a job with much less labor and in shorter time.

Best of all, they hold their color better, wear longer, and always make a satisfactory job. Ask your dealer.

TOWANDA, PA., NOVEMBER 9, 1905.

Several firms of Chicago manufacturers, who employ three thousand men, are preparing to move to other towns in consequence of labor troubles.

President McCall contends that there are two sides to the life-insurance business. It is clear enough that the policy holders have the outside.—St. Louis Democrat.

One of the meanest forms of graft is that of making school teachers pay directors for the teacher's election. A man that would do this might well be expected to steal flowers off from his mother's grave.

Admiral Togo's name is pronounced as if spelled Tongo, the letter "g" in any Japanese word always having the sound of "n" to accompany it. "Banzai," the Japanese shout of triumph, means "May the Emperor live forever."

The fact that a number of New Yorkers paid as high as $50 a chair to witness a play that had been advertised as salacious, seems pretty good evidence that the fool killer of Manhattan has not returned from his summer vacation.

All bodies of water about Ithaca, from which ice is harvested will be analyzed by a chemist, and no one will be allowed to cut ice from any body of water in the city or town of Ithaca without permission from the board of health.

Young Theodore Roosevelt should remember that if he is to lead the strenuous life he must have the Roosevelt luck. His father would have come out of the football game with the cut on the head of the other fellow.—Kansas City Journal.

Half Cain says that he believes socialism is the only way out of the middle in which he finds America, as he discovered business and all affairs in high places, especially in insurance circles, are in the hands of anarchists who are robbing policyholders, widows and orphans.

The czar has no civil list, says Harper's Weekly. When he wants some money he goes to the big chest and helps himself, very much as they used to do in the Equitable building. All the money in the imperial treasury is regarded as the Emperor's personal property. Alexander drew $30,000,000 one day and gave it to his morganatic wife, the Princess Dolgorouki, for herself and her children.

One of the agricultural experiment stations bought a ton of suspected bran and found that it contained 1,200 pounds of bran, 300 pounds of plaster, 300 pounds of crushed oat hull and 200 pounds of sawdust. One ton of good bran will keep a cow 250 days, but a ton of adulterated bran will keep her only 150 days. Stations do good service when they put farmers on their guard against such practice.

An aged editor, who has grown gray practicing a noisy, turbulent, resentful and belligerent life, has been thoroughly tamed by reciprocating blows and in a sort of a philosophical lamentation that sounds like David of old cries out through his paper: "Keep still! When trouble is brewing keep still! Even when slander is getting on his legs, keep still! When your feelings are hurt, keep still—till you recover from your excitement at any rate." This is good advice from a sage who knows just what he is talking about.

The big colleges, Harvard and Yale, are in trouble. After reducing their tuition fees to attract students, and finding that it is a losing business, they have about decided to increase them, so that income and expenditures shall balance more nearly. And now comes Princeton, who says she, too, has been unable to make ends meet, and also thinks of increasing her tuition fees. The fact is, these big schools have, under pressure, been growing more in numbers than in financial resources, and something must be done to bring up the latter to meet the requirements of the former. There is not a single big college in the country today which could manage to get along with its present resources. All of them have to go out every year, and hat in hand, beg for money to make up their actually incurred deficiencies.

Mrs. Belya Lockwood, the famous woman's rights advocate, has just earned a $50,000 fee for legal services as counsel for the Cherokee Indians in a claim against the government, by which the Indians were awarded nearly $5,000,000. Mrs. Lockwood has another $1,000,000 case before the court of claims.

Speaking of the endless chain the Eldorado (Kas.) Republican says: "Every farmer boy wants to be a school teacher, every school teacher hopes to be an editor, every editor would like to be a banker, every banker would like to be a trust magnate, and every trust magnate hopes some day to own a farm and have chickens and cows and pigs and horses to look after. We end where we begin."

In its current summary of the "State of Trade," Bradstreet's says: "The outlook generally is an optimistic one and indicative of marked activity the coming winter." The same excellent authority tells us that: "All the measures of trade volume point to record totals in business operations." The prospect for good times has never been brighter at this season than it is at present.

The framed motto "God Bless Our Home," became an implement of war in the hands of Minnie Belnap at Des Moines, as she snatched the frame from its fastenings and brought it down on the bald head of her husband. The glass face on the motto was smashed. Belnap is in the hospital with a carefully handaged head. He refuses to prosecute, but says his wife "is given to rashness when aroused."

A Wilkesbarre dispatch says: "Since President Roosevelt visited this city last August and addressed the Catholic Temperance workers the cause of temperance has shown remarkable progress. The Grand Divisions Sons of Temperance of Pennsylvania in the headquarters sent workers into the coal fields immediately after the President's visit and as a result 22 divisions of the organization have been formed with a membership of 2,000."

Rather startling evidence of the efficacy of the recent crusade of the state dairy and food bureau against "doctored meat" in Pennsylvania is furnished by the showing of the dairy and food commissioner's office for the past month. Fines collected during September from violators of the pure food law foot up to $7,000 and almost the entire amount has come from the sellers of "preserved" or adulterated meats. These fines exceed $4,000, the total for any other month this year.

George Bernard Shaw's latest play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," is so rotten that the New York police arrested the manager of the Garrick theatre where it was presented and the actors and actresses have all been hauled in to court. When a show is so bad that New York cannot stand it, it must have purgatory beaten to a standstill. New York doesn't shock easily but "Mrs. Warren's Profession" it is said would bring the blush of shame to a woman of the class to which "Mrs. Warren" is supposed to belong and carry on business with.

During the twelve months ended June 30, 1905, 886 persons were killed and 13,783 injured as the result of accidents on railroad trains, according to a report of the Interstate Commerce Commission issued recently. Comparison with 1904 shows an increase of eleven killed and 4,123 injured among passengers and employees, the increase in killed being wholly among passengers, while the number of employees killed shows a decrease of 102. The damage to cars, engines, and roadway by these accidents amounted to $2,410,671.

Hopelessly blind and confined to his bed at his home in Brooklyn, Ira D. Sankey, the famous evangelical singer and partner of the late Dwight L. Moody, is putting into book form the story of his gospel experiences. The book will be called "Moody and Sankey and the Story of Their Gospel Hymns." Deprived of his sight and confined to his bed for the last six or seven months, and living in the atmosphere of retrospection, the work of compiling the new book has been a joy to him. He dictates the songs and stories brought back by memory, to his secretary and stenographer, who transcribes them. In two or three weeks the book will be ready for the printers.

The Andrew Carnegie School of Technology in Pittsburgh opens with more than 7,000 applicants for admission, only one-fifth of whom can be admitted when the school is completed. Nothing like this demand for technical education has ever before been known. Yet it will surprise only those who have not watched the growth of schools of this character. The explanation of the large number of applications is not the nominal tuition fee, which is no smaller than that of many finely equipped State universities. It is rather to be looked for in the better appreciation by young men of the fact that the golden key of business success is held now by the schools of applied science.

Midshipman James R. Branch, son of James R. Branch, of the Hanover National Bank of New York city, and secretary of the American Bankers' association, is in a dangerous condition from injuries believed to have been received in a fist fight with another midshipman, the encounter having been arranged. When a young man gets through a strenuous four years at Annapolis or West Point he should be absolutely bullet proof.

President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 30th as Thanksgiving Day. He asks "that throughout the land the people gather in their homes and places of worship, and in rendering thanks unto the Most High for the manifold blessings of the past year, consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness, honor and wisdom, so that the Nation may do its allotted work on earth in a manner to honor those who founded it and those who preserved it."

New York women indignantly deny that what Mrs. Russell Sage said recently is true of any considerable number of them. Mrs. Sage is credited with having declared that "She fears for the future of American women by reason of their tendency to smoke, drink and gamble." It is entirely safe to say that the number of American women to whom Mrs. Sage's words will apply is extremely limited. There is no country in the world whose women are so free from the vices mentioned, as are those of the United States.

William F. Hill, master of the state grange, is sending out appeals from his office at Chambersburg to all of the local granges of the state and to dairymen, asking them to work for better oleo laws. Master Hill asks the recipients to adopt resolutions addressed to their congressmen, to the United States senators, to the secretary of agriculture and to the president, asking for new legislation. It is contended that the present statutes are directed against those people who "knowingly" sell oleo in the guise of butter and that this one word allows a lot of willful lawbreakers to hide behind it.

Over a third of the national banks incorporated since the date of the passage of the national bank act have been organized since the passage of the act of March 14, 1900. In all 7,996 national banking associations have been organized, of which 5,858 are in active operation, the others having been placed in voluntary liquidation or in the hands of receivers. Since March 14, 1900, no fewer than 7,702 national banks have been incorporated. The net increase from that date to October 31 last, allowing for voluntary liquidation and failures, was 2,241; the authorized capital was increased during the same period to the extent of $195,717,980, and the outstanding circulation to the extent of $270,005,519. The 5,858 national banks in operation at the end of last month had an authorized capital amounting to $812,026,075, and had $494,017,850 in bonds on deposit as security for circulation to the amount of $489,937,806.

State Odd Fellows to Visit Athens.
A special session of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, I. O. O. F., will be held at Athens on Thursday, Nov. 16, by Melville E. Chubbuck, grand master, and other officers of the grand lodge, for the admission of past grands to membership. The new Odd Fellows hall will be dedicated in the afternoon, and the special session of grand lodge will be held in the evening at 7:30. Following the session there will be a lodge of instruction for third degree members.

New York, Nov. 6.—The Rev. Ingram N. W. Irvine of Philadelphia, the former rector of St. John's Episcopal church at Huntingdon, Pa., who was unfrocked by Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, was ordained a priest of the Holy Orthodox Greek Church in America at the Cathedral of St. Nicholas in East Ninety-seventh street by Archbishop Tikhon, head of the Russian church in this country.

Y. M. C. A.'s Founder Dying.
New York, Nov. 6.—Information was received at the international offices of the Young Men's Christian association in this city that Sir George Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian association, is dying in London. Sir George is eighty-four years old, and his illness is incidental to old age. He founded the association in London in 1841, when he was twenty-two years old.

Thompson Quits the Stage.
Boston, Nov. 5.—Denman Thompson, the veteran actor, who during the past twenty years has been a familiar figure to audiences throughout the country as Joshua Whitcomb in "The Old Homestead," has retired from the stage. The condition of his health will determine whether the retirement will be permanent.

A $2,500,000 Coal Deal.
Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 2.—The sale of 25,000 acres of coal land, one of the largest coal deals ever consummated by local men, was closed. The property is located in Monongahela and Marion counties, W. Va., and the price paid by a syndicate is said to be $2,500,000.

Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her. About 11 o'clock on Saturday evening Kaufman's clothing store was visited by a party of young men evidently looking for some of the bargains so lavishly advertised during the last few days. While David Kaufman was alone in the store a party of five or six young men entered. One of them engaged Mr. Kaufman in conversation and the others began looking about on their own account. Mr. Kaufman saw two of them each slip a pair of trousers under his overcoat. He made a dash for them and succeeded in closing and locking the door, but not before one of the thieves had dropped his booty and escaped.

Kaufman waited until a passerby came along and sent for Chief Miller and Officer Hollon. They took the young men in charge and got a confession and a pair of trousers from one of them.

"One of the incidents of the evening was the development of George L. Baldwin, candidate for Assembly, as a stump speaker. In points of address and eloquence, Mr. Baldwin turned out to be the best speaker developed by the campaign, in fact, one of the best orators yet heard on the Republican side." Mr. Baldwin is a man of excellent ability and his many friends in Towanda will wish him victory in his candidacy for the assembly.

GENERAL HILL'S WILL.

Probated at the Office of Register of Wills McCabe.

The will of the late General Jonathan A. Hill of Towanda was probated at the office of Register of Wills W. J. McCabe Nov. 1 by the executors, Hon. William W. Clark, of Wayland, N. Y., a son-in-law of the deceased, George S. Richards of Brooklyn, a brother of Mrs. Hill, and George R. Hill, a son of the deceased.

In brief the property is disposed of as follows: The real estate is bequeathed to George R. Hill and General Hill's other son, Dr. Jonathan A. Hill of New York. The remainder of the property is left to the executors as trustees to manage the estate and pay the income to the widow, Lucy A. Hill, during her life time. After her death the income is to be paid to the several children of the deceased, during their life and at their death to the grandchildren, in such proportion as the children may direct. The sum of $1,000 is left, the income of which is to be paid to members of the Eleventh Maine volunteers of which General Hill was a commanding officer. A great portion of General Hill's wealth is in stock of the United States Leather company. While there is nothing in the will to indicate what General Hill was worth, it is probable that his estate will reach the sum of $500,000.

HURT IN THE WOODS.

Charles Matson in Williamsport Hospital in Bad Condition.

The accident that befel a woodsman, Charles Matson, who last week Tuesday morning was admitted to the Williamsport hospital, and the condition of the man make his case an unusual one. He was wholly unconscious for a couple of days and even now is not rational, the result of a blow on the head.

He was injured in the woods near Wheelerville, Sullivan county, when helping fell a giant tree, a limb of which caught him a violent swinging blow on the head.

Harry McEntire, of Williamsport, was there after the accident occurred. He states that when the wounded man was lying on a cot blood was blown from his mouth at every breath he took and sprinkled over the wall. Probably all that prevented his bleeding to death was the prompt securing of a physician, which was done by telephoning to Laquin in time to get a doctor on a work-train bound for Wheelerville.

When Matson was finally placed in the Williamsport hospital there was small hope for his recovery. His condition now is not generally improved.

LEHIGH FREIGHT WRECK.

Happened at Falls on Friday Morning. Fast Train's Close Shave.

A freight wreck on the Lehigh Valley at Falls station Friday morning at 5:20, piled seven freight cars in a heap and blocked both main tracks and a siding for many hours. A broken wheel was the cause of the mishap. Fast train No. 2, Eastbound, had passed the freight just two minutes before the wreck. None of the train crew were injured, but the wreck was an expensive one.

No. 157, the newspaper train, was abandoned and the mail brought up the line near the middle of the afternoon. The W. & N. B. train pulled through from Towanda to Sayre, and a train was made up there to continue the run Westward.

In Memory of Their Friend.

The coming week a number of the friends of the late Murray Tillotson of Towanda, will go to the cemetery at East Canton and erect over his grave a handsome granite marker, suitably inscribed. Between 40 and 50 of Mr. Tillotson's friends contributed to the fund for the purchase of the marker, which was made by Burchill Bros. and sold by them at cost. Mr. Tillotson, who died about two years ago, was employed in the Smith Bottling Works and in different Towanda hotels and was a very popular young man.

Will Go to Burlington.

Two young boys, giving the names of Molyneux, reported to Chief of Police Miller Monday afternoon that they had been deserted by their parents and had nothing to do or any place to go. Over a year ago their parents lived near Durell Center but since that time the boys have had to shift for themselves. They have worked for farmers but as they were compelled to go to school now they say they cannot get any work. The boys will probably be sent to the county house at Burlington.

TOWANDA MAN HURT.

James Dickson Had Several Ribs Fractured in Accident.

James Dickson, who resides on North Main street in this place, was taken to the hospital at Sayre early Sunday morning for treatment for injuries received in a collision between engines on the Lehigh Valley at Mehoopany. Three engines were being taken from Sayre to Easton and one of these engines was in charge of Engineer John Coleman of Towanda with Dickson as fireman. It was going double header with another engine and a third engine was running alone behind.

This last engine, in charge of Engineer LaBarre of Sayre, bumped into the double header and Dickson was thrown to the ground with a piece of the cab which was smashed by the tender coming against it. Coleman was in the cab but miraculously escaped injury. Dickson was just entering the cab when the crash came. A passenger train was due just at the time the accident occurred but it was flagged in time to stop any further mishap.

NOVEL AND AMUSING "RUN" ON A BIG BANK.

Foreigners Withdraw $15,000, Because of a Foolish Scare.

The First National bank, of Pittsburgh, one of the strongest financial institutions in Pennsylvania, experienced an unusual incident last Saturday night, when a large number of foreigners caused a "run" on the bank. The demand was not a heavy one for a bank of the First National's standing, and the obligations were easily met.

The cause of the run was novel. The lettering on the large brass signs which ornament the front of the building had become worn, and the signs were removed Saturday and placed in the hands of a painter for relettering. Some Italians, who noticed this, had their suspicions aroused. When the bank opened its doors Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, as customary, the foreigners were on hand, and for a time the bank clerks were kept busy. When the little "run" had ceased, it was found that about $15,000 in savings accounts had been withdrawn.

Makes Bequests Void.
The omission of the names of subscribing witnesses from the will of Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, who devised a large portion of his landed property for the establishment of an agricultural school for poor books makes null and void that provision for such an institution. Under the law all wills containing charitable bequests must contain the signatures of subscribing witnesses. The omission, however, will not affect the other provisions of the will.

Hands Cracked and Peeled.

Suffered for One Year—Water Caused Agony, Heat Intense Pain—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Could Not Do Any Housework.

Another Wonderful Cure by Cuticura

"About a year ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do any housework. I put my hands in water, I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook over the stove, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but his prescriptions were utterly useless. I gave him up and tried another, but without the least satisfaction. About six weeks ago I got my first relief when I purchased Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a week, I found to my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and to-day my hands are entirely well, the one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment being all that I used. (signed) Mrs. Minnie Drew, 18 Dana St., Roxbury Mass."

ELECTION IN COUNTY HAD SEVERAL SURPRISES.

John W. Codding of Towanda Is Defeated for Sheriff.

The election in Bradford county on Tuesday furnished two great surprises. The first was the success of the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, William H. Berry of Chester, in carrying the Republican county of Bradford by a substantial majority. But the far greater surprise was the defeat of John W. Codding, Esq., of Towanda for sheriff by Job Griffin, Democrat, of Athens. This came as a bolt out of a clear sky to Mr. Codding and the Republicans in general and cannot easily be accounted for. Griffin will carry the county by about 250 votes. The other Republican candidates are all elected and M. J. McNulty, Democratic candidate for county commissioner, is re-elected although Henry H. Bentley, who ran on the Citizens ticket polled a large vote. The Republican majorities are for the most part small and the election is one of the closest held in a long while.

The Close Contests.

With one district to hear from on the commissioner and sheriff contest reports by returns and phone indicate that Griffin will have a plurality of 250 over Codding. The vote on commissioner is Harkness, 3,579; Marsh, 3,422; McNulty, 3,275; Bentley, 2,970.

Vote Was Light.

Contrary to all expectation the vote was a light one, only about 60 percent of the voters registering their choice. A small part of this was due to the difficulty experienced by the average voter in marking a split ticket, which resulted in many defective ballots.

Names of the Winners.

The names of the winners in state and county are as follows:

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Miss Mabel Kase won a wager from her brother Merrill by eloping to Elmira, N. Y., with Charles Robohish and getting married. Miss Kase and her brother had wagered that she would not marry before he did. When the brother learned his sister had gone he got his sweetheart and started after them, but was too late.

Moody to See Garfield.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The plea of the packers that Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations, who previously investigated the beef industry, promised immunity from prosecution has caused Attorney General Moody to seek a joint interview with the commissioner and Assistant District Attorneys Morrison and Pagu, engaged in the beef trust case.

Eight Hour Law Upheld.
